Efficient training, tangible returns

An affordable LMS with simple implementation

Dealing with a limited training budget? Make the most of it with TrainingToday's learning management system (LMS).

- Simple setup and implementation
- Set-and-forget reporting
- Easily import custom content
- Upload external assets like PDFs, PowerPoints, and even content purchased from other vendors

Building an LMS program from scratch

Building and managing content internally requires a substantial addition to an organization's workforce and tools, which adds up fast:

- Course authoring tool: $3,600 per year (industry average)
- Instructional designer: $69,000*
- Educational designer: $73,000
- Senior legal editor: $109,516
- Credentialed training professional: $83,565*

* PayScale  ZipRecruiter  Glassdoor

$3,852 to $6,420
annually[†]

VS

$338,681 in the first year

[†] Based on our HR All-Access library for 300 to 500 learners

Looking for a new LMS but lack the resources to administer it? TrainingToday now offers LMS administration as a service, providing up to 10 hours a month of professional administration for TrainingToday's LMS.

Comparing quality course content against content aggregators

TrainingToday

- Confidence that training meets compliance requirements
- Content packages that cover an entire subject area
- Content that can be easily imported into any LMS
- Interactive content using knowledge checks to ensure engagement
- Translation options for multiple languages

VS

Content aggregators

- No admin access
- All courses are available to all employees
- Disparate systems
- Inconsistent course quality
- Outdated compliance content
